truu trio.
The intelligent faucet for design lovers.

Product information for the premium three-way faucet truu trio, which delivers utility water and truu original water through strictly separate lines from a stainless steel fixture. Includes color variants, prices, and technical specifications.

truu trio three-way faucet in matte silver

This faucet made from the highest quality stainless steel is the perfect solution when you want just one faucet for conventional utility water and truu original water. Both flow from a single fixture through strictly separate lines. Through one line, water flows from your regular household connection, and through a special stainless steel line flows only the purest, original water from your truu home system. This means your truu original water comes into contact with no plastic whatsoever after filtration. And so that truu trio fits perfectly with your personal style, the stainless steel fixture is available in three attractive finishes. It is available as matte silver as well as in anodized matte black or anodized matte gold.
